

4th European Biotech & Medtech Investor Day

Boston, June 4th 2018

The HealthTech sector meets American investors

Paris, April 25th 2018 – France Biotech, the French Association of Life Sciences entrepreneurs, is organizing its 4th Investor Day, on June 4th in Boston, ahead of the BIO Convention, the annual international meeting for life sciences.

Considering the major global public health challenges, the Healthtech sector, bringing together disruptive innovations in Biotech, Medtech and European Digital Tech, will present a selection of its most promising companies to American investors specialized in healthcare.

For Maryvonne Hiance, Chairman of France Biotech: “The scientific and technological excellence of French HealthTech, associated with our world-class healthcare system and environment, contributes to making Europe the most attractive region in terms of investments. The sector must quickly lift barriers, including funding, for its further development. That is the reason why this 4th Investor Day in Boston, where a real French life Science hub is located with French researchers and entrepreneurs, is an opportunity to present our potential to healthcare-focused US investment funds.”

The group of French and European companies, led by France Biotech and its partners – EuropaBio, Business France, Dechert, Euronext, Invest Securities, NewCap, Sofinnova - is composed of public and private companies. They will be available to meet American investors during one-on-one meetings that will be held from 7:00 am to 1:00 pm at the Hyatt Regency Boston.

About the Investor Day

This France Biotech initiative aims to strengthen the interactions between public and private French and European companies with investors from different countries, in order to foster exchanges, by demonstrating the strength of the French and European financial sectors. The ambition of the Investor Days is to bring together the main players of the healthtech sector - banks, brokers, analysts, auditors, lawyers, investor relations specialists, gathered in a sponsorship committee to support entrepreneurs.

About France Biotech

Founded in 1997, France Biotech is the independent association that federates health innovation entrepreneurs with their expert partners (investors, research institutes, competitiveness clusters, etc.). Its mission is to facilitate healthcare innovation in France and help start-ups and SMEs of the sector become successful companies that will be then be able to rapidly develop new therapeutic solutions. At the origin of the JEI status (Jeune Entreprise Innovante- Young Innovative Company) implemented in 2004, France Biotech strongly supports the development of this innovative sector for it to be recognized as a leading industry. France Biotech is chaired by Maryvonne Hiance and has more than 180 members.
